Who participates in Building Safety Month?

Approximately 64,000 ICC Members across the United States and globe celebrate Building Safety Month (BSM) by hosting community events, demonstration projects and educational outreach initiatives that increase public awareness about the importance of building safety and sustainability, and raise the profile of code officials.

ICC Chapters and volunteers organize events and share key messages with the public as well as with critical stakeholders in building trades, conservation, emergency management, meteorology and more.

Local, state and national leaders support the campaign with official proclamations, resolutions and ceremonies. ICC Members engage the news media at every level through broadcast, print and online dialogue with Op-Eds, Letters to the Editor and interviews. Past campaigns have garnered coverage on CNN as well as other national outlets, and home improvement experts like Danny Lipford and Bob Vila added their voices to the cause.

ICC Board members, staff, Members and key external partners support the campaign through engagement with the U.S. Congress and with the Executive Branch during “ICC Advocacy Day.” The meetings focus on public policies that support adoption of current model building codes and adequately resourced code enforcement.

How does the campaign work?

ICC uses multiple channels (websites, magazines, ICC eNews, social media, news releases, etc.) to promote BSM. Educational and promotional resources are available for the 64,000 Members of ICC to participate in the month-long event and promote BSM to their customers and the public. Sponsors are highlighted through various channels commensurate with their level of sponsorship. Major sponsors may provide branded content for the website and receive name recognition in media used to promote the campaign to building departments throughout the United States and abroad.

What are the Building Safety Month outcomes?

In previous years, a Presidential Proclamation declared May as National Building Safety Month and a number of U.S. governors issued proclamations supporting the cause. In addition, numerous events are held in Washington, D.C., and around the world to promote building safety.

Last year—2017 Building Safety Month in review

Below is a snapshot of the outcomes from 2017 Building Safety Month (BSM):

- Over a dozen events including mayoral meetings, community gatherings, receptions, training events, banquets and awards ceremonies, outreach at retail facilities and city halls were held all across the United States hosted by ICC Chapters and stakeholders, including our Founding Strategic Partners in the nation's capital.
- The ICC website provided information about BSM sponsors, free downloads of campaign materials, postings of event photos and more. In addition to the ICC BSM pages, the campaign was promoted through Facebook, LinkedIn and Twitter, and we provided promotional items such as posters, brochures and banners in print and in electronic formats.
- All news releases were cross-promoted through ICC communication channels, trade media, consumer media and online news aggregators to maximize frequency and reach, and to achieve the objectives of our BSM campaign.
- Publicity in trade publications and on websites of Chapters, jurisdictions, nonprofits and industry private sector websites expanded reach, increased the frequency of messaging and served as secondary endorsements of the campaign and its key messages.

What can sponsors expect during the 2018 celebration of Building Safety Month?

Building Safety Month generates widespread news coverage and focus on the importance of building codes, strong code compliance and the case for resilient, safe, strong and sustainable structures. The campaign leverages print and broadcast media, social media, letters of support from corporations and other organizations including FEMA, the National League of Cities and more. Sponsor mentions and materials are included in ICC eNews with more than 87,000 readers and the Building Safety Journal Online, which reaches ICC Members.
