

Michael Fischer

Michael Fischer serves as the Executive Director of the International Door Association. Mike has been in the building products industry for more than 35 years, holding executive and management positions in regulatory affairs, manufacturing, and marketing. His involvement in building and energy codes, product standards, and product safety issues within the industry provides a comprehensive background to deliver responsible advocacy for IDA. Mike is the past chair of the National Safety Council's Window Safety Task Force, was a member of the Door Safety Council, and is a member of ASTM and ICC.